INITIATIVE

Forum Plus International Institute is a non-profit NGO committed to expanding the Christian culture, according to the tradition of the Social Doctrine of the Catholic Church, in the European community of nations. As Forum is willing to contribute to the growth of a whole new generation of walking Social Doctrines, it works among the youth and with the youth who are called to play their full roll as citizens in serving the common good.

Made of Young Catholics moved by the love of Jesus Christ – the Way, the Truth and Life – the Forum Plus International Institute shares its mission with the Church: having love for everyone and ‘providing’ everyone a whole and complete salvation, that is given only in the name of Christ.

That is why we stand for an integral human development, inspired by the values of charity in truth, which focuses on the authentic dignity of human person while observing the principles of solidarity and subsidiarity in seeking the common good.

In our societies that are becoming more and more transformed in peripheries for libertine hedonism leading to boredom, individualism and purposelessness, we want to restore Christian hope by promoting an understanding life as a joyful task to be accomplished in a spirit of solidarity and self-giving.

In a prevailing culture of market-driven homogeneity which, by means of social management and educational indoctrination, denies the Christian roots of Europe, we as young Catholics feel called to offer a service of charity in truth, understood as a force that builds community without imposing barriers or limits.

As a response to a throwaway culture caused by an aimless materialism that disables young men and women to form families and have children, Forum wants to foster the attitude of fruitful self-giving as basis for prudent social policies that encourage and strengthen marriage and childbearing.

DOCAT

DOCAT (du:kæt) is a popular adaptation of the Compendium of the Social Doctrine of the Church, a summary of the Social Teachings of the Church: “DO” comes from the verb to do whereas “CAT” stands for Catechism. Apart from the Compendium of the Social Doctrine of the Church, insights from the two social encyclicals of Benedict XVI (Deus Caritas Est and Caritas in Veritate) and the encyclical of Pope Francis (Laudato Si') have been incorporated in this Youth-friendly Catechism. Written in resonance with the style of YOUCAT, this DOCAT will be offered as a free gift to the youth during the coming World Youth Day (26 July 2016 to 31 July 2016) in Krakow, Poland. The DOCAT has been published by the Austrian Bishops’ Conference and approved by the Pontifical Council for the Promotion of the New Evangelisation.

What exactly is the Compendium of the Social Doctrine of the Church?

The Compendium of the Social Doctrine of the Church was published in 2004 by the Pontifical Council for Justice and Peace at the request of Pope John Paul II. This document offers a complete overview of the fundamental framework of the doctrinal corpus of Catholic Social Teaching from Leo XIII to John Paul II. The compendium is divided into three parts, comprising twelve chapters and with several pages of abbreviations, references and indices. Specifically, it deals with questions on divine providence, the Church as the mission of Jesus Christ and its social doctrine, the human person and human rights, the family in society, human work and the economy, political and international communities, the environment, promotion of peace, pastoral actions and activities of the laity, and working to build a civilization of love.

History _The DOCAT was an idea of the youth of the United States of America. These young people had participated in the World Youth Day (2011) in Madrid, Spain. The youth of WYD in Madrid were given a free copy of the YOUCAT. After going through the YOUCAT, these young Americans wrote to the ‘Youcat Foundation’ in 2011 (after the WYD in Madrid): “Now we know what faith is, but What Should We do? What do you think about a DOCAT, (from to do)?” Social doctrine calls for participation. The team implemented this important principle of the social doctrine from the very outset. Under the guidance of Cardinals Christoph Schönborn and Reinhard Marx, scholars and youth from all over the world worked together to bring out the DOCAT. These young people were involved in a number of ways in the process of the coming-to-be of the

Business Model Generation : A Handbook for Visionaries, Game Changers, and Challengers

Business Model Generation is a handbook for visionaries, game changers, and challengers striving to defy outmoded business models and design tomorrow's enterprises. If your organization needs to adapt to harsh new realities, but you don't yet have a strategy that will get you out in front of your competitors, you need Business Model Generation.

Co-created by 470 "Business Model Canvas" practitioners from 45 countries, the book features a beautiful, highly visual, 4-color design that takes powerful strategic ideas and tools, and makes them easy to implement in your organization. It explains the most common Business Model patterns, based on concepts from leading business thinkers, and helps you reinterpret them for your own context. You will learn how to systematically understand, design, and implement a game-changing business model--or analyze and renovate an old one. Along the way, you'll understand at a much deeper level your customers, distribution channels, partners, revenue streams, costs, and your core value proposition.

Table of Contents

The book is divided into five sections: 1 The Business Model Canvas, a tool for describing, analyzing, and designing business models, 2 Business Model Patterns, based on concepts from leading business thinkers, 3 Techniques to help you design business models, 4 Re-interpreting strategy through the business model lens, and 5 A generic process to help you design innovative business models, tying together all the concepts, techniques, and tools in Business Model Generation. The last section offers an outlook on five business model topics for future exploration. Finally, the afterword provides a peek into "the making of" Business Model Generation.

Business Model Generation features practical innovation techniques used today by leading consultants and companies worldwide, including 3M, Ericsson, Capgemini, Deloitte, and others. Designed for doers, it is for those ready to abandon outmoded thinking and embrace new models of value creation: for executives, consultants, entrepreneurs, and leaders of all organizations. If you're ready to change the rules, you belong to "the business model generation!"

City of Split

The story of Split is already 17 centuries old, dating to the time the Roman Emperor Diocletian decided to build his Palace right on the peninsula near the great Roman city Salona, where he wanted to spend the last years of his life. During these 1700 years the Palace slowly turned into a city, which to this day lures with its rich tradition, glorious history and beauty of its natural and cultural heritage.

Diocletian Palace and the entire historical core of Split have been on the World Heritage UNESCO list ever since 1979, and not only for the extraordinary preservation of the Palace, but also because the Palace and its city (or the city and its Palace, if you like) continue to live a full life. All historical layers from the old Rome, middle ages till today are still visible and alive in this structure. A walk through the ancient city takes you through time, along the great examples of ancient architecture like Peristyle, the middle aged Romanesque Church and Gothic Palace, Renaissance portals of the noblemen's houses, Baroque facades and modern architecture superbly merged in the rich heritage.

Partners:

Such stratification is mirrored in everyday life of Split. Local inhabitants sit in the same cafes, restaurants, shop in the same stores as tourists, giving them the impression that, by arriving to Split, they became a part of the city and its rhythm. The vegetable market and the fish market represent the centre of each family's life in Split, just as the entire social life of this city of 200 thousand reflects on the Riva (waterfront), where every guest should endeavour to have his coffee alongside noisy, temperamental folk of Split.

Split is much more than glorious architectural scenery. Split is also a venue for excellent gourmet and wine experiences, numerous cultural happenings like film and theatre festivals, exhibitions, excellent museums and concerts. It is a city which hosts the Ivan Meštrović Museums, dedicated to the work of one of the most prominent Croatian artists of the first half of the 20th century, who acted as a sculptor, painter, architect and writer. Split with its sport results is something only a handful of cities of similar size around the world can boast about as it is the home of a dozen Olympic medal winners as well as other sports medals.

When you tire of the city bustle, there's Marjan, hill symbol over the city, with its forest, jogging trails, mountain climbing and biking, recreational terrains, but also the ancient churches where the late citizens of Split sought spiritual peace. Also very unusual to find in a city the size of Split are the numerous beaches with extraordinarily clean sea, from the well known Bačvice to the stone secluded oases' all around Marjan.

After all that's said, are you at all surprised that citizens of Split have a saying:
"There is no place like Split"?

University of Split

The University of Split was officially established on 15 June 1974 when the units having already had an effect in their professional, scientific and teaching areas entered its structure.

As a predominant scientific and teaching public institution in the region the University of Split has expanded during the course of the past 30 years to include eleven Faculties, one Academy of Arts and four University Departments. There are about 24,000 students enrolled in the University's undergraduate, graduate and post-graduate programs.

The focus of the research work carried out by the University is on scientific areas with reference to disciplines characterized by natural, biomedical, cultural, historical, social, economic and other features of the region as a part of the Croatian Adriatic and the Mediterranean region as a whole. This involves the research and protection of art and construction heritage, philology, field crops, oceanography and fishing, Adriatic botany and zoology, island and coastal economy, Adriatic tourism, maritime law, nautical science, naval architecture and a range of other specific disciplines such as chemical engineering, civil engineering, architecture, electrical and mechanical engineering, social sciences, kinesiology, humanities, health sciences, forensics, all of which distinguish the University of Split, not only in Croatia but also beyond its borders. The University of Split offers the most of studying programmes, meeting different interests which can be found at many modern universities all around the world.

There are two types of studies, university and professional studies.

University studies educate students for highly professional work, and throughout continued education for scientific work. Professional studies are aimed more for students who have more affinity for the particular practical knowledge and faster integration in the field of work.

There is a difference regarding the studies level between university and professional studies.

University studies are performed as undergraduate, graduate and postgraduate studies, while professional studies are performed at only one level, with the possibility of continuing the education at graduate professional or, under certain conditions, at graduate university studies.
